NORTHUMBERLAND HILLS

OUR VALUES

Our mission is to inspire, educate and connect people through the power of art by showcasing the rich diversity and talent of local artists via an immersive and engaging art tour experience.

We aim to foster a deeper understanding of the arts and promote creativity, cultural exchange, and social cohesion while enhancing the vibrancy and character of our community.

Inspire. Educate. Connect.

How We Live Our Values:

The Northumberland Hills Studio Tour is committed to our values of Inspiration, education and connection.

This year, we are once again pleased to present a body of work by the students of Cobourg Collegiate Institute. We are creating a vibrant platform for young artists to connect with professional creatives and encouraging them to explore their creativity while deepening their understanding of the art world. Together, we are engaging the broader community and strengthening the cultural fabric of Northumberland County. Please come out and see these talented, next-generation artists!

We aim to support artists of all definitions. To that end, we are continuing our “Emerging Artist” category. What defines an emerging artist? The art world’s definitions are broad and varied, but to us, it describes an artist who is still gaining a foothold in the market and finding their artistic path. We let our artists identify for themselves if they fall into this category. This is a great opportunity to discover a new and exciting artist! Make no mistake - these artists are no less professional. We’re confident that you will be delighted by their high level of skill and product.

Denice Bustræen

Painting

As a long-time First Nation resident of remote Northern Ontario, a hiker and canoer, I have seen some of the most beautiful places in Ontario and beyond. These breathtaking vistas now feature prominently in my art and speak to my connection with Ontario's pristine wilderness.

Kellie Barron

Glass

My artwork is a reflection of my fascination with glass and my desire to evoke emotion through the glass. I discovered hot glass casting and fusing a few years ago and it now owns my heart. I love creating fun and conversational glass pieces as much as functional ones.

Margaret Macgillivray

Painting

I use acrylic and mixed-media to explore both abstract and representational forms. My work blends intuitive mark-making with layered textures, drawing inspiration from natural environments, memory, and the emotional resonance of color. I invite people to stop, engage and reflect.

Vlasta van Kampen

Painting

My paintings are in pencil, watercolour and inks, often with overlaying details in pen line. My work reflects nature and my love of colour, detail, patterns and design. Many years of my career have been spent writing and illustrating children's books. Now my inspiration comes from nature.

Jamie Van Iersel

Photography

My images are glimpses of the world around me. Things I happen to see wherever I happen to be. I try to be present and experience the moment. Catching something on "film" is a bonus. Everything is temporary. All moments are fleeting. Photography lets us share a moment for a little longer.

Diane Arsenault

Painting

My paintings reflect my home, my life, my family, focusing on interiors filled with objects that I have collected over the years, all the while looking out to the changing seasons in the Northumberland forest, I'm sharing the intimacy of my world.

Woodturning

The biggest satisfaction I get is when someone asks me about a finished piece. I tell the story of how the gnarly, spalted or figured wood guided my inspiration and became the art they hold in their hands.

Loretta Kaltenhauser

Painting

 13

My true artistic expression begins when I step away from external noise and look inward. That's exactly where my abstract artworks find their power. For me, art is a deeply personal journey – driven by intuition, emotion and raw presence. They are spontaneous expressions born from pure feeling.

Katherine McHarg

Painting

25

Katherine McHarg started watercolour painting en plein air in 2022, using time alone in nature to refine her painting practice and develop a body of work dominated by skies or water in motion and turmoil. She is inspired by the Northumberland hills and the lakes and waterfalls of Haliburton.

Kathryn McHolm

Watercolours

26

The ambience of “my space” lends itself to creating. My watercolours and drawings are inspired by my garden/habitat and local architecture and my “environmental art” has been influenced by my frugal and creative minded ancestors who never let a good thing go to waste.

Jennifer Eisen

Fine craft

27

A classically trained jeweller with a background in metalsmithing & enameling, Jennifer Eisen shifted her focus after encountering fascinating 18th-century miniature jewelry at the British Museum. This sparked pursuit of micro mosaic art—an exacting technique using tiny glass filati & Roman stucco.
